

RADICAL KARMA

TASK: Go back to the time-line diagram you did where you listed your victim/perpetrator stories. Using that and your forgiveness list, plot a hypothetical Radical Karma chart for your own life.

I suggest you actually draw a chart and plot the events. Do it on the next page. These questions might help you.

1. How long did you spend living in the required state of spiritual amnesia before you began the process of awakening? _____ years.
2. What life experiences in that time frame contributed to your spiritual growth and moved you in the direction of waking up?

3. What was event that really forced you to begin waking up?

4. How long did it take from the very beginning of the awakening process to when you really got it (if, in fact, you have), that 3-dimensional reality is only the illusion and that the truth is 'other-worldly?' _____

5. Make an assessment of how much of the time you are looking at life through the lens of humanity and how much you are looking through the lens of Divine Truth. Then how much of your time are you spending looking through both simultaneously?
